JOTUNHEIMEN — THE HOME OF THE GIANTS

MULTIMEDIA PUBLIC LECTURE by
ROBERT KAKARIGI

NOVINARSKI DOM; Perkovčeva 2; Thursday; 4 February 2010; 18:30

Author Robert Kakarigi, best known for his articles and photographs published in Croatian and international issues of the National Geographic Magazine is going to give a Multimedia Public Lecture at Novinarski Dom in Zagreb on Thursday, 4 February 2010, 18:30. The author will be discussing his most recent travel article Jotunheimen – Home of the Mountain Giants. Robert Kakarigi will show the remaining photographs taken on this journey and explain the process how an article for the National Geographic Adventure is being made. The author has some amazing stories to tell from the top of Galdhøpiggen, the highest mountain in Norway and Northern Europe. Throughout the presentation the audience will be also introduced to the wonderful world of Norwegian dramatist Henrik Ibsen and his famous Peer Gynt, accompanied with incidental music composed by Edvard Grieg. Each member of the audience will also receive free copy of the NG TRAVELER (plus ADVENTURE) Magazine.

THE LECTURE WILL BE
